Dear Miss Comer;

I am sorry for delaying in answering your letter of May 18; as usual I have been swamped with work and also have moved into newly remodelled quarters.

I know very little about the Hopi, because I did not want to get involved with another tribe, and I was working on the Navaho. I know Mr. Dockstader and I am sure his introduction and the manuscript itself of Ms. Cory would be of great interest. Please forgive this long delay in answering, but things seem to keep me snowed under here.

In another letter from you regarding the availability of prints from the Rio Grande book, if I don't have prints on hand, I can always make new ones. But I need to know if these are for collection items or if they are to be used for other purposes.

Very truly yours,

Laura Gilpin
