Dear Ms. Gilpin:

Thank you for your letter of June 15, which seems to have crossed ^{with} my own of the same date. Your kind response to our request was very much appreciated.

The photographs that I listed by page number are the ones that we are interested in publishing, at this stage. However, as submitted illustrations from authors are still slowly coming in, and artill~~es~~ces are still being revised, I would like to be more certain of which photos we would definitely want to publish before asking you for prints of them. (I am also trying to get a copy of your Pueblo book from the Library of Congress and would like to select a few photos from that as well.)

Thank you once again for your response. I will get back in touch with you within the next month, by the end of which time our Navajo section should be in a near-final state.

*Thanks
very much*

Sincerely,

Laura Greenberg
