Dear Miss Gilpin:

Two colleagues and I are preparing for submission to the journal Historical Archaeology an article on the ethnography, ethnohistory and archaeology of Hispanic northern New Mexico. We need a picture of the plaza of Chimayó which shows its defensive-square characteristic. Neither we nor the photo archives of the Museum of New Mexico have such a print. (They had one, but it is lost.) I wonder whether by chance you possess such a photograph which we might use, of course with appropriate attribution.

Sincerely yours,

Paul Kutsche
