Dear Ms. Gilpin,

This letter is embarrassingly overdue, none the less, I do want to thank you for the kindness you extended me during my visit in late January. As you may have gathered I was very nervous about the pictures I had taken of the Indian ruins of your region. Still I am nervous about my technical abilities. Your comments of content and light conditions have been most reassuring. You have given me considerable confidence in my N.E.A. grant efforts on a book on Anasazi Architecture.

I would like to add that our conversation was not only educational and reassuring, it was a most pleasurable experience, an experience I will hold dear for years to come; in fact an experience which I somewhat relived last week while viewing your show at the Focus Gallery in San Francisco.

Again, I want to thank you for your kind help and generous hospitality.

Sincerely,

Bob McLandress
