Dear Ms. Gilpin:

Remembering as I do that long list of orders from your retrospective show, it's no wonder that you do not recall filling our order. No, we haven't received the prints. Not wishing to push you at this busy time, we would be very happy if you could do only the one of "The Rio Grande Yields Its Surplus to the Sea." It would be especially marvelous as a pendant to the other we have of the Rio Grande in 14 x 18 size. If I remember correctly, the price is to be $100. But please don't feel rushed at all.

I do so look forward to receiving the Canon de Chelly prints. As I wrote to you in the September letter which you did not receive, I am asking each photographer to write a statement about the specific prints for the show whenever possible. I believe that the inclusion of such statements will give this exhibition a special quality. Please indicate the print prices and whether prospective buyers should contact you or Lee.

I can imagine few moves as tricky as the moving of a dark-room and hope all will go smoothly for you.

Best wishes for a good 1976.

Fondly,

Jean S. Tucker
Research Fellow
