Dear Laura,

How nice it was seeing you the other afternoon and the elegant new quarters you have for photography. You have waited a long time for this, but now you can appreciate it more than ever. I was particularly pleased to see you do not have to step outdoors to accomplish your work.

The seven photos that I took with me I have shown to David Donoho, and we both agreed that they should be in the furniture book. Thus I enclose my check for $35.00. As only one had your name on the back, I have marked the others with your name.

The print which I took to your house of the 18th century room exhibited at the Folk Art Museum in 1959 we decided that you would make another print. I know you plan to take off soon for California but I hope you will have some time to do this because of my deadline. This photo shows blankets hanging on the wall to the right with a simple cross hanging over the fireplace and a three-legged stool in front of the fireplace. I particularly am anxious to have this photo in the book because it is our only tie-in with the bicentennial. I can say this room could have existed in New Mexico 200 years ago.

Many, many thanks for your cooperation--as always.

Sincerely,
