Dear Laura,

I don't know if you remember me or not. I was in Santa Fe in January of this year, saw your show at the museum and came by to meet you and show you my portfolio. I very much enjoyed meeting you. You struck me as a very sincere, fine person, and I was amazed when I saw the quality of your work that I had not heard of you before. A lady photographer friend of mine would say that you have not received the fame your work deserves because you are a woman, and she may be right. But perhaps you would rather not be very famous. I could understand that.

I ordered an 8 by 10 print of Navajo Grandmother when I was at the museum and made a $25.00 deposit. I recently received word that the print was ready. Unfortunately, I am at a rather slow ebb in my work at the moment, and don't have the other $75.00 right now. I just wanted to let you know that I still want the print, and I will send the rest of the money just as soon as I can spare it from my eternal round of bills.

Hoping to visit you again some time.

Sincerely,

Eric W. Morey
