Dear Laura:

Margaret Hartley and I agree that one of the high points of our 1977 Thanksgiving weekend was having an opportunity to talk with you and the Wilders. I'm still annoyed with myself for not bringing my camera to record the rare and happy occasion. Perhaps we all felt somewhat inhibited about photographing one of the most gifted photographers of our time. But you may be sure that I won't miss the next opportunity.

The enclosed copy of SOUTHWEST Review is to reacquaint you with the magazine that in 1960 carried your lovely "Spring Flow at Cerralvo." Presumptuous of us to ask, probably, but would you by chance have something you might consider sending us for a future cover picture? It would be very exciting to have something of yours again. With all of your commitments, however, you may not wish to do this, and if so we will surely understand.

In any case, it was a joy meeting you and we'll look forward to seeing you again--and to seeing your next book. Margaret asks me to send you and her beloved Santa Fe her warm greetings.

All best wishes,
