Dear Laura:

I apologize for being so late in responding to your letter concerning the use of your work.

First, we were desperate and needed a couple of your images to round out that issue. I deeply regret not giving Texas credit. That was an oversight on my part, as you had discussed this with me.

I am waiting to use your portfolio when I can get Maggie Wilson over to interview you. And finally, I have to have an issue where I can run a black and white portfolio. It has to be just the right situation because our readers expect color, and we don't want to frighten them off with black and white.

I'll stay in touch and talk with you before running any photos, in order to avoid any problems.

I hope all goes well with you. Sure anxious to see your book when it's out.

Cordially,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Tom".
