Dear Miss Gilpin:

I was very pleased to have your reply to my letter inquiring about the possibility of acquiring your work for the Museum collection.

We wondered if you would be willing to send us a group of twenty-five silver prints of varying subjects and sizes from which we can make a selection. In addition to your portraits, we are interested in your landscapes. "Mouth of the Rio Grande", illustrated in the February 1977 issue of Popular Photography, impressed us as being a particularly fine image.

We appreciate your kindness, and we look forward to receiving your photographs.

Sincerely, yours,
