

Kayenta Trading Post, Inc.

"Gateway To Monument Valley"

Shopping Center

Navajo Rugs --- Indian Jewelry

P. O. BOX 97

KAYENTA, ARIZONA 86033

Answer

September 16th, 1979

Dear Laura Gilpin,

I attended the showing of your pictures in Farmington, New Mexico last week. I wanted you to know that I enjoyed it a great deal. I have had your book but the exhibit with the larger pictures really brought out the feeling of the land and The People.

May Adson from Shonto recently came to the store to sell a piece of pottery. She is still a good trader. I am so glad that you recorded in print my neighbors and their culture.

I have often wondered where Milton 'Jack' Snow's pictures have been filed. I met him during the 1940's while we lived at the Red Mesa Trading Post.

May Beauty surround you -

Most sincerely,

Carolyn R. Blair

Carolyn R. Blair

answer

*I don't know when Jack Snow's ^{is} now-but will keep pictures are, but are probably at the Navaho Community Center, if he is still living -
where his work should be on file.*