Dear Laura,

My typist is back in town and I am recovered from Christmas and a bit of flu that felled me - ready now to put your text together again with your corrections and retyped, send it to you for a last look before it goes to the Editor.

I hope that you had a good holiday and are now well into a happy New Year.

I am hopeful that you have sent the photographs to the designer at Viking. By next week she and I will have talked so that if there is any question I will call you.

Please make any final corrections on the text when you receive it. And additions too if you see fit. I want it to meet your satisfaction.

Best,

Greta

Happy New Year!
