

SANTA CLAUS MOLA from Molas: Folk Art of the Cuna Indians by Ann Parker and Avon Neal. This is a copy of an authentic Cuna Indian mola, displaying the brilliant colors typical of this unique, primitive art form. Skillfully handstitched by the Cuna women, molas are reverse appliqué decorations sewn on their native blouses. The Cunas live on the San Blas Islands off the Atlantic coast of the Republic of Panama.

A B A R R E B O O K

subject and I remember you responded to both.

Avon and I did enjoy the time we spent with you. When I have printed a portrait of you in front of all your boxes of work I shall send it along. Thanks for trading work - it was a great pleasure.

Ann Parker

Thistle Hill
July 1979

Dear Laura Gilpin,

How we enjoy having the print of yours "Ason Kintichine". She is sitting over my desk getting to know her neighbor, a lovely Wynne Bullock print of sea plants.

Enclosed are two prints that I showed you on our visit in April. As I couldn't decide between them, I decided to send both to you as they seem to be two such different aspects of the

Answer

