Dear Miss Gilpin:

I am sure you have seen the attached clipping from last Sunday's NEW YORK TIMES. Just on the chance that you might like to have an extra one, here it is.

It looks as if you had finally overcome all the difficulties involved and that your new book will soon be available. I, for one, am certainly looking forward to getting it for myself and friends who are interested.

Even though I have had a preview, I expect to be in New York before January 6 and am looking forward to seeing your exhibit at the Museum.

If you see either Myrtle Stedman or Irene Peck, give them our best.

Cordially,

Clinton Bennett
