Dear Mr. Wardlaw:-

An inquiry has just come from Mr. Melvin Brisk of Quadrangle Books, Inc. about a re-print of my Rio Grande. As you still have my only extra copy, I am wondering if you are finished with it, or if you need it now that you are considering the Navaho book. I have one copy only, No. 1 copy, which I am loath to send anywhere as second hand copies are not only hard to find but seem to bringing a high price, $35. (the last I heard).

Bill Webb, a photographer and book seller as here some weeks ago and asked if I would be interested in a re-print, telling me that he knew a house that was doing good printing in higher priced paperbacks. However, as I recall, it was some other publisher that this, though Mr. Brisk tells me that Bill had told him of it. As there seems to be demand for this, I would certainly be interested in a new edition.

If you do not need the copy would you be so good as to send it to me, and if you have any advice about this Publishing house I should welcome it.

Sincerely
