Dear Mr. Wardlaw:-

How very kind of you to phone me about the letter from one of your Faculty Committee: I failed to catch his name over the phone. When one has worked very hard to deliver a message, it is more than gratifying to know that it has "gotten across".

My friend Elizabeth Forster, who lives here with me and unfortunately who is growing very frail, wanted to know just what the letter said. I found I had only a warm feeling of satisfaction and pleasure and couldn't tell her anything very specific. Would it be an imposition as ask for a copy of that portion of his letter about my book?

Of-course I shall await eagerly the response from the other members of the Committee, and I am sorry my delay in getting the book to you before the members dispersed for the summer has caused extra work and further delays. But I am sure that you understand that this is the kind of book one could not hurry.

Again my thanks and the wish that all will move along smoothly,

Most sincerely
