

January 7, 1969

Mr. Steve Rice,
University of Texas Press,
Austin, Texas.

Dear Steve:-

I have only just found the unopened envelope containing this . . . It must have come just about the time I went down to Austin, but how it got into my bill pigeonhole unopened, I don't know. Anyway, disregard my letter to you of last week. Now, I need only ten copies but I do need these. If you have already sent the full twentyfive, I expect I can find one of the stores in this area to take them, that is, the fifteen copies delivered by Mrs. Webb.

Ofcourse I am anxious to hear how the sales are going. I have hear so little from the East, that I am wondering about that.

Sorry if I have disrupted your accounts in any way, and I hope that soon I can emerge from the pile of mail that as accumulated on my desk during the past month,

My greetings to one and all,

Sincerely