Dear Steve:-

Just a week or a little more ago, I learned that the "News Stand at La Fonda, here in Santa Fe, had a new manager. I went in to see him and found that the stand is now back under the Fred Harvey Co., and ofcouse, found also that they did not have our book. So I left one on consignment. I do not know if you have ever gotten in touch with the Fred Harvey Co. All books for all stands at the Harvey Houses that are left, are under the management from the Chicago office. But there are still several places where our book should be if they are not there already. The Alvarado, in Albuquerque, La Fonda Here in Santa Fe, The stand in the station in Kansas City, El Tovar at Grand Canyon, and I think there are a few more in this western area. These are all off the regular bookstore list, but they sell lots of books. another item which you may or may not know about is the Gallup Ceremonial Aug.14-17. The gathering of tourists and Indians of all tribes nowdays is fantastic. I dont know just what could be done other than the outlets you already have, but you may not know the dates of the event. I feel so out of touch as I have not been over since I have been on crutches. Some news, however, d does filter in.

In the meantime I need one more book to take the place of the one I left at La Fonda. Enclosed please find check for same.

With greetings to all
