Dear Miss Gilpin:

You will be glad to learn that we have received the page proofs for The Enduring Navaho. Under separate cover I am sending to you two sets of pages--one for your use as author and the other for your use as indexer.

Will you please read the uncorrected author pages for substantive error only. Our proofreaders will check the pages very closely; however, if you should notice a typo or two, we would be grateful for your indication of the error. But we expect from you only the correction of factual error. Of course, you realize that at this stage revision for style is not allowable. I must be arbitrary and ask that you have these page proofs back to me by July 1, so that we can note your corrections and return the proofs to the printer as quickly as possible.

The second set of pages, which you will use for making the Index, need not be returned to me. Again, I must present you with a deadline, and ask that you have the Index to me by July 22. I imagine that Miss Spiker's Indexing Your Book will receive a lot of use in the next several weeks.

I look forward to receiving the page proofs and Index from you. If I can be of any assistance at all please let me know. Best wishes.

Very truly yours,

Barbara Spielman
