Dear Miss Gilpin:

This all seems to be a confusing situation in total, but I believe we can finally figure it out if you will return five Enduring Navaho's to us in saleable condition, or give them to a Santa Fe bookstore so that we can credit your account for those five books.

If you give them to a Santa Fe bookstore (i.e. Mrs. Webb or Villagra) be sure and have them (and you also) notify us who got them so we won't be expecting them here in Austin on a return label. If you return them, we will cancel the invoice #65859 of 5 books to you and credit your account accordingly.

I did not know about the Rawls transaction until your postcard, and had sent you what we thought to be your five books. What I didn't know was that five were sent to you but were charged to Mary Rawls on 12/13/68 on invoice #66407.

I will send you a return permission with this letter if you decide to use it. Be sure and notify me if you give those five books to someone in Santa Fe. Hope this improves your situation.

Sincerely yours,

Steve T. Rice
