Dear Ms. Gilpin:

We are in the process of publishing a book on THE AMERICAN INDIAN IN AMERICA which will be used in junior and senior high schools throughout the United States. At the present time, we are looking for photographs to illustrate this book.

Of particular interest to us is a photograph of yours which we have seen in the book, THE ENDURING NAVAHO. The photo is entitled "Bringing home a flock of sheep on a windy day" from page 95 of your book.

Initially, we contacted the University of Texas Press, who informed us that we could reproduce the photo for $25.00. Unfortunately, since we are a small company, our budget will not allow us to spend so much for a single photo. I say this knowing that your photos are unusually lovely and expressive. We would still like very much to include the photo in our book. Is there any chance that we could obtain the rights to this photo for a smaller fee?

We would, of course, credit you if we use the photo.

Thank you for your attention to our request. We will look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Peg Sanford
