Dear Laura:

I am sorry that we won't be doing the Canyon de Chelly book, but I am glad that it will be published.

We are getting through the present fiscal year by the skin of our teeth, but I hope strongly that our funds will soon be sufficiently healthy to enable us to publish a new edition of the Rio Grande book. It is very definitely on my mind.

Rosemary and I are going to spend August on the beach at Pawley's Island, S. C., the first extended non-business connected vacation I have had in years.

I hope you don't have any more physical troubles. I never heard of anybody being felled by oregano; trust you to do something different!

All the best to you.

Sincerely,

Frank H. Wardlaw
