Dear Laura:

I had not known that RIO GRANDE has been remaindered. From the D.S.&P. answer, it would seem that they had just sold some overstock and kept some copies. You have intimated that they had only 100 copies left. It seems strange that any one would remainder such a small quantity of a book of this nature.

I can understand disposing of some of the old stock if there was a fairly large quantity. Some day I'll ask Charlie casually what the story is.

We still would like to see the Navajo book, Best wishes.

Cordially yours,

HASTINGS HOUSE
