PARIS. - TOUR SAINT-JACQUES

EDITIONS L. ROBIN

night after his 50th to see you darling -
be there? How love
The children - the always forgive my because you know in kind I also know evoke I feel at
and Christmas,
my arms round

Nell - dearest Nell!
Dearest - nearest -
in spite of the months, in spite of the miles - you are right with me - always. At this moment on board
a ship travelling
towards Africa once more. This is the last time God will grant me and him
that wonderful trip together - but that it happened once more in my life is always such a blessing! I am shooting again, this time material Jerome and I will own, but the BBC, London will put on, as a birthday tribute for A.S. The summer, all of it Well, was hectic, be not vell- this is the first respite.

Meilleurs vœux
pour un Joyeux Noël
et une Heureuse Année

You will know what it means to live through days which are counted - I don't have to say more. The sadness of it - the great great sadness which is so much part of life of saying "Good by" constantly to all we love... In January I'll return, birthday – I'll need

– so much – till you
you been – John?
little ones – You
long silence, Well,
that in the hours
e to begin to live
near you —
I'll be putting you in my heart
and my thought
for all of you —
Love Grier
