Dearest

Thinking happily of my many blessings I will try the speed of the Air Mail to home

Bobbed off at Back Bay at 6³⁰ & walked up street with Peter Hunt en route for Cape Cod.

Boston breakfasted & read & loafed

Chatted with "Mary" at Providence & invited them to the Rutgers Brown game they us to their Thanksgiving dinner very joyfully

shall try to get Howard & tell as loyal alumni also to "our Consideration"

Slept well + thought over many things quite happily.

The division of this world's Goods + my share compared with any and all my associates sometimes overwhelms me. In the aggregate they do so much more than I to produce it. Then there is the $ that I throw out so casually that means so much to others.

We cannot unless we get more impersonal dollars coming in as Bobby does lose sight of relativity nor do we want to.

However we shall look things happily and simply in the eye and

Know that the real things in life we have got and be happy in sharing the rest of them + making them a blessing to a wider circle

I am somewhat untrussed as my kit includes a
no razor + while there was good cream for breakfast no cab to take it off my cheeks.

I could have had the barber bring me
here but thought

the Thatch is still incipient & I swum
rather yare with
you. If one could scatter this work & shift night from NY to Boston for a place to sleep he could get weary peaceful early morning ^{hours}.

I wish you were with me dear there is so much in the unexpected & while you will have your hands full today we both must promise each other to keep our freedom. I shall let Terry & al get after some of my problems. & who knows.
much love dearest I will look in on you tomorrow morning
