Beloved Nell,

A word in great haste to tell you that I had a call from Andrew Dasberg the other night, thanking me profusely for sending him your book. I judge that you inscribed it and ~~Andrew~~ Benjie gave it to him. In any event, I went along with it, not knowing exactly what had happened, and told him it was a book he should have. He agreed wholeheartedly, of course. We greatly enjoyed Chris's visit and the children are still wishing he could have stayed longer. His size and culture were most impressive to them (and to us, too, of course, though we already knew about it.).

I have your pictures up, and enjoyed and agreed with your inscription "Oh, Glorious day."

Well, the family has returned, so the uproar is on, and I will get this closed and off to you now.

Great, great love from all of us to you.

John
