Dearest Mom~

Each day becomes more complete in itself as our Kate grows into a tiny person. She promises to be a cheerful child, of large appetite and watchful eyes. She and her sister seem to like each other. You can see how well they entertain one another in the little pictures enclosed. Kate was no more ~~and~~ than two weeks or so — and now we have celebrated her 1st month already!

Life is delicious. Today the sun gave us Spring — its clarity and joy in the air. All four of us went for a walk and drank of the gladness of being us, together, alive. All this we share with you. Our love,
Areta (& Mitch & Anne & Kate)
