

a BIG sister.

With my new Rollei, I am hungrily taking pictures of us all. They will slowly, lovingly come to you. Here are a few of Anne, who continues to be my most interested subject!

I am at peace - your letter meant so much. my love always - Walter Stein, American, contemporary Butterflies
Pencil drawing, 1960
Harvard College Library Department of Printing and Graphic Arts queta.

I cannot find "infinity" - we have looked in all the stands + stores. Could write somewhere for it?

of the sun. my footstep is lighter, my heart is full of joy as I care for my little family. It is all so delicious - I had expected a more swift "recovery" but I guess I was more tired. Nevertheless, with Kate, from the very beginning our love has been mutual. Now its form is in soft whispers in my ear and a muzzling against my breast. She is every bit as sweet as Anne was - and Anne gives her the affection of Dearest understanding Nell -

How wise and knowing you are - the second child, Kate, grows more sweet and dear each day. As my strength grows so does my pleasure and peace. We have had a burst of warm spring and each day Anne & I are in the sun, off swimming and walking in the hills, or with Kate to the camps, picnicking on the grass and being children