

have reflected our peacefulness by being suddenly warm and sunny. Anne and I have bathed in the new warmth, letting the sun warm us as we picknick for brach - or go off swimming in strawberry Canyon, above Berkeley in the hills where a lovely pool is provided for The University children. We share all this with you, wishing that we could be near.
 Love, Greta.

ROSES

Detail from a skirt panel embroidered in colored wool. French, first half of the XVIII century

THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART

Gift of Edwin Upton, 1925

Dearest Madina NM ~ It is perfect.
A new calm has encircled us and all seems right with the world.

This was a little picture caught by Frederick on Easter Sunday when we sat for him under the redwood trees. Kate fell asleep and Anne tried to coax her awake.
It was a happy day. The days