'The moor-cock springs on whirring wings
Among the blooming heather,
Come, let us stray our gladsome way
And view the charms of Nature,
The rustling corn; the fruited thorn.
And every happy creature'

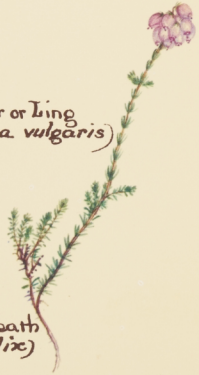

Burns.

Fine-leaved Heath.
(Erica cinerea)

Heather or Ling
(Calluna vulgaris)

Cross-leaved Heath
(Erica Tetralix)

Copyright © Webb & Bower Ltd 1978.
An Elgin Court Design 529 Printed in England.

Creeping Plume Thistle.
(Cnicus arvensis)

Welted Thistle
(Carduus acanthoides)

Cotton Thistle.
(Onopordum acanthium)

Dearest Freend Dorn:

From the "Big City" I hear your Show and Opening was a big success. I joy in seeing your 50 years in photography a success!

Several of my friends who live in N.Y.C. have gone to see your wonderful loveing images.

One, was a intending "Mother" she said, "Love and Warmth Filled her heart" — Especially seeing the little baby sitting playing in the water ... She said she was very happy to see no adult Males in the Show ..... The joy of it was "Mother's and Children in Love"

Your photographs really made her day.

From The Country Diary of an Edwardian Lady published by Michael Joseph/Webb & Bower

The illustrations by Edith Holden are reproduced by kind permission of her great niece, Rowena Stott.

She said the two Rooms were just beautiful.

2/ Again dear Lady you have filled the hearts of the those who hunger for love.

This is what I mean, that your works will live thru the ages of time. God has given you a touch of love and you have shown it thru the Camera.

It is my Wish that Peace and love of Christ be With you this day.

You live With me each Day — Sincerely

Shedrick