

March 7, 1943.

Box L77,
Herald Tribune,
New York City.

Dear Madam:

We are a normal family of two, living in Westport, Connecticut, quite simply in a small house with large grounds and streams. It is an unusually pleasant place, and your coming might work out happily if the youngster is big enough to carry wood and do incidental errands etc. around the place. There is an excellent school accessible by bus. The room is large, with a fireplace and separate entrance, and there is a second smaller room that might be used also. If this interests you, please telephone Eldorado 5,7343 for an appointment. We are in town for the winter at 125 East 57th Street and can arrange an interview there.

Yours very truly,

Secretary to Mr. Dorr.