Dear Mrs. Dorr:

I am most sorry for any concern on your part for your exhibition. It arrived here late in September, was installed on October 1st and will hang through October 26. I did not write you concerning details of arrival for I had suspected that the Minneopolis people would inform you of the exhibition's whereabouts.

We have had marvelous response from our visitors. Both college art department heads have requested that all students make a special effort to study the exhibition and many of our local artists have returned several times. People are most impressed by the warmth and sincerity of your work, something I fear is lacking in much of today's art.

I would most certainly welcome copies of "Mother and Child" to offer for sale and I am sorry that I did not think to request them sooner.

The Museum is interested in purchasing at least one of your works for our permanent collection. May I inquire if you are willing to sell prints and if so what costs would be involved?

My sincerest thanks to you for your kind assistance in regards to the exhibition.

Sincerely,

Phil Morrison
