Dear Mrs. Dorr:

Thank you for sending the prints and for your very kind letter! Those pictures just make me smile--They bring back the delights of having babies.

We are running into cash flow problems because our customers are slowing down on paying their bills, which means that I will have to postpone this set of cards for three or four months. Is that a problem for you? I don't want to hold your prints under false pretenses! Doing this set of photographs by and about women is very important to me and I want to complete it as soon as possible, but at the moment money just isn't coming in fast enough to justify making a commitment to spend $4000. We have a set of Edward Weston notes due from the printers in two weeks, and I hope that sales will pour in once they are available.

I would like to show all of the prints to the printer and get his advice on which would reproduce best. May I keep all four here for a week or so? I will keep the others in my safe until we can go to press, if that is all right with you.

Thank you again for being willing to be a part of this project. Let me know if the delay causes any problems for you.

Warm regards,

Anne
