My dear Nell:

Thank you so very much for your sweet letter of the 19th. This, alas, is only an acknowledgement, but I couldn't let another day go by without telling you how nice it is to hear from you and to feel you are contented, to say the least. I shan't say happy, because that is a rather tricky adjective.

Don't worry about THE BARE FEET in Mexico City, although it is nice to know the books are in the best stores.

Yesterday Libby sent you some more reviews, and they will continue to come in. The sales to date, after returns (and January and February are always the heaviest in this department), show something like 600 copies, and this I don't think is at all bad considering the late start the book got.

I will write again soon. Please continue to enjoy the sun and the ambiance of Valle de Bravo.

With kind personal regards, as always.

Sincerely,

Burton Cumming
