My dear Nell:

Many thanks for your sweet note, and I am awfully pleased to hear that you are having such a happy time.

Thanks for the gossip on how THE BARE FEET has sold out in Holland.

We will send the four copies as you have directed to your daughter's address in Texas.

When you do return in May, it will be time to sit down and go over the sales picture of the book with you. We are also anxious to do a little more promotion, and the next direction we intend to take is the Catholic magazines, which might do a very creditable job in spreading this book to the faithful.

Meanwhile, all of us here are sweating away and envy you in your globe trotting.

I send you my very best, and I am joined by Libby.

With kind regards.

Sincerely,

Burton Cumming
Director of Publications
