My dear Nell:

Our embarassment still lingers but the error has been eliminated as of this moment.

You don't owe us anything, you never did and you never will.

Please, therefore, tell your bookkeeper to tear up the invoice at once. Meanwhile our Sales Manager is arranging the necessary credit on your royalty account. So much for the above, exept that I am terribly sorry it happened at all, it was just one of those errors which creep in as inevitable, somehow, as a small company starts to grow and has to add more people to its clerical staff.

I hope you will forgive us. ~~I send you my very best.~~

We are already at work on the text material for OF NIGHT AND DAY, and I expect to get it ~~down~~ to Joe at Spiral Press, ready for setting, by the end of the week, or soon thereafter.

My love as ever,

Burton Cumming

P.S. Herbert Schutz adds his own personal and profound apologies to you for this error that never should have happened.

B.

P.P.S. Please don't forget that you are going to writeErica Anderson for permission to quote Schweitzer's remark about the "poor moon". Do we have permission from Maritain, I believe you said he had given you the lines to quote. B.

Some more PS. Have just talked to Joe at West Cornwall — he has done very good things to make almost anything at the proper shade + value of the text — Before — what about proofs — will relay down to you soon.
