December 12, 1969

My dear Nell:

One thing leads to another although I have been thinking of you a lot more than you would imagine.

This note is just to greet you and send you a sample of the little mailing we are sending out to our various interested sources on just one subject. I am sure you will recognize your name as the author of one of these books. The other three are out of print.

Wishing you all the best.

As ever,

B.
