October sixteenth, 1954.

Dear John:

As I go through the vast accumulation of papers, - for Marguerite had "le culte de souvenirs," - I find many reminders of the past, among them the enclosed. It will recall to you, as to me, the happy occasions in your so warmly hospitable home.

Do you believe that Kay would like to have some of her letters to Madame Carrière, who so cherished her as indeed all her friends and pupils? If so, and if you give me her address, I will mail them to her.

Rebuilding a life is a slow, heart-breaking process but it has to be done.

Recently I read of the Dorr and Oliver Corporations. How closely you keep in touch with our living present. Surely you and Nell must be riding ever on the top of the wave.

Heartfelt good wishes to you and your
dear ones.

Cordially,

Louis A. Freedman.
