Dear Mrs. Dorr:

It was a pleasure meeting you and your husband at the Family of Man showing last night. You must feel very pleased at having so many of your photographs used in such an effective way in the exhibition.

I am sending you an advance copy of the issue of POPULAR PHOTOGRAPHY containing your story. We are all very pleased here with the way it looks and have had favorable comment on the pictures already.

INFINITY, the official magazine of the American Society of Magazine Photographers, has asked me to query you about the possibilities of using a spread of your pictures in some forthcoming issue. As you may know, this is a small bi-monthly publication distributed free to all members of the society and to magazine editors, picture agency people, and others in the field. They do not pay for material they use, of course, but it is something of a compliment to be reproduced by them, and the circulation, although small, is extremely influential. I have offered to write a brief commentary on the pictures if you should be interested in cooperating. Please let me know at your convenience if you are interested.

Sincerely,

Arthur A. Goldsmith, Jr.
