Lindenlei 63

Dear Friend,

Forgive this type-written letter which I am sending hurriedly because I want certain information, but a letter will come from my hand soon to thank you for your beautiful letter to me.

This concerns the printing of my book the "Bare Feet" this summer. It is now decided that we shall do it in Holland which has been my choice all along. I would appreciate your frank and honest judgement about our choice for a printer because the decision is not yet final and could be any printer whom you think could do a better job. As it now stands the decision is with the Enschede en Zonen in Haarlem. Mr. J. P. Engel here is the man with whom we have corresponded. Would you feel that this is the best choice we could make? If you do I shall write immediately (and this is why I am hurriedly sending this letter to you) to confirm the printing of the "Bare Feet," starting as soon as possible after my arrival which will be about the first of July. The publishers want the book for fall publication so that time is of the essence.

Thanking you in advance, and I will write you within a day or two.

Sincerely, believe me,
