29.8.54 The Manor House

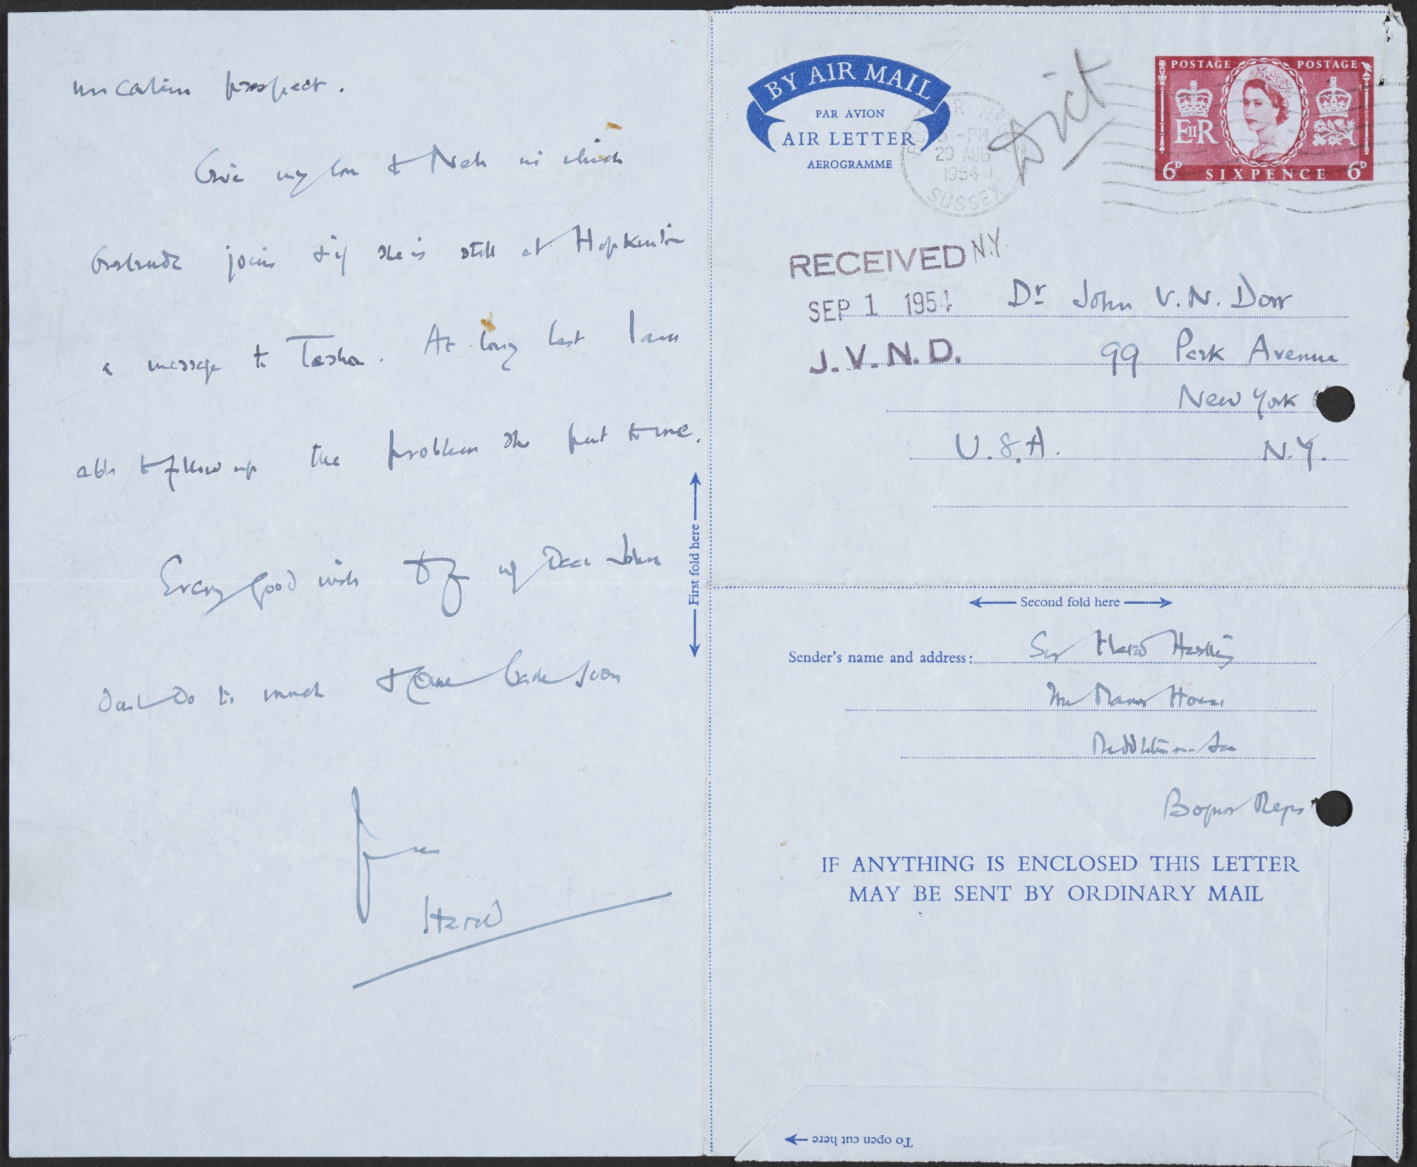

My Dear John,

Of course I am delighted that what I wrote pleased Nell & you that she wishes to quote it. I am proud to be associated with her book. The more I look at it the more fascinated I am by its originality & artistry. She is a complex person & the creativeness of her book must be a unique phenomenon!

I am busy here preparing for the British Association where I have a varied assignment. I open a discussion on 'Coal & Britain's Future'. I preside over a discussion on 'Science & Religion' on which I must speak & thank the author, & on Sept 6th I am televised for 25 minutes on Science & Industry.

A quiet week-end here just makes all this possible among my books & papers.

Commentators Ltd came here with a problem on Friday & I took them to consult Dorr Oliver, but nothing may come of it as it seemed to me a big
