Dr. John V. N. Dorr

New York 16, New York

Dear Dr. Dorr:

The book about which you wrote me last February arrived a few days ago, and all of us in the office have enjoyed it very much indeed. I am very grateful to you for sending me a copy. I may add that my first generous impulse to give the book to the library has lessened somewhat, for I would very much like to have it among my own books. Perhaps, however, it would be the kindest thing to hand it over to the library belonging to our department of teacher education, where I know it will be enjoyed.

I do hope that one day our paths will cross, for I would like very much indeed to have the pleasure of meeting you and Mrs. Dorr.

Sincerely yours,

Helen Voorhees
