Dear Miss Goodwin:

Thank you for your letter of March 29. You were very kind to enclose an extra copy in your packet of "Mother and Child". However, I had previously received four copies in response to my request and my check for $21.00. Therefore, with your additional five copies, I received a total of nine copies.

First, I planned to return the extra four copies (and retain the fifth copy which you so graciously sent me.) However, while I did not plan to invest a sizeable amount in the book - since I have the extra four copies, which are in such fine condition, I shall keep them for gifts and I am enclosing a check for $18.00, plus the 49 cents (the cost of your mailing). Perhaps the extra four copies in mothers' hands will be doing greater good than being retained in your supply. The book is lovely and very gentle in feeling. Thank you for fulfilling my order so nicely.

Sincerely

(Mrs) Verna Racine

Sorry, I can't locate the first letter
I received, which writer acknowledged the order - and stated the copies were being mailed.
