Dear Dr. Porter:

It was quite a thrill for me to talk to you on the phone. I have been a fan of yours for many years. My first Sierra book was yours on Glenn Canyon--and I still cherish it and look through it frequently for inspiration.

I wrote the article on Landscape Photography in the Encyclopedia of Practical Photography, and plugged canyons as one of the types of landscape subjects. I enclose a copy of the volume in case you're interested.

I found copies of various instructions on the use of KODAK E-3 Chemicals for processing the E-3 EKTACHROME Films you exposed in Hawaii. I hope you are able to get the chemicals soon and have no difficulty processing the films.

Frank is still on antibiotics to clear up the pneumonia, and is having considerable discomfort where they operated on his hip. We don't really expect him back to work until sometime in May, but he may fool us.

I was in the Santa Fe area for a few days years ago, and would certainly like to get there again. I took a number of pictures at the Chimayo Mission, and one of them is in volume 13 of the Encyclopedia. It is in stereo, but unfortunately the fellow who made the halftones didn't see the need to reproduce both views, so he reproduced the same view twice--which doesn't give much stereo effect.

Again, good luck with your processing.

Cordially,
