Dear Mr. Porter:

While working for the Sierra Club, looking through their exhibit format series books, I came across three extremely striking photographs. I would like to know if it is possible to get a copy of these photographs, and if so, what the cost would be.

They are:

grass in mas

"In Wildness . . .", about page 151 (the pages are not numbered in the copy I saw), under the section titled 'Winter', the photograph of plants rising above the snow, opposite the entry of January 7, 1857.

Manta Ray

"Galapagos - Discovery", page 162, photograph with a white 'spot' on a black background.

Stellar photo

"Galapagos - Prospect", page 137, photograph of (I think) a porpoise breaking the surface of the water, which comes out as a large white, sparkling splash against a black background.

I will look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Donald Hughes
