Dear Eliot,

Your letter of the 24th has just arrived. I am very sorry to hear of the misunderstanding with Weston Naef and hope that it will be resolved to everyone's satisfaction.

Perhaps the exhibition at the Metropolitan could be entitled, "Eliot Porter 1928-1978." This would give you complete scope to select the number of prints which they would need -- possibly even including some black and white early pictures. I quite understand your point of view and also the problem that this raised at the museum. However, I'm sure that it can be amicably adjusted.

Sally and I have joined the Friends of the Princeton Art Museum and are taking off on the 30th on a tour to Belgium, Holland, Finland and Leningrad. We will be home about July 16th, but only for a couple of days. After that we will be at Hewitt Lake, Minerva, New York 12851 until about September 7th.

Affectionate regards to Aline and yourself.

Sincerely,
