Dear Eliot:

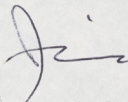

Needless to say, we are most grateful for your very generous $850 contribution to the Society received today.

We are arranging to remit to E.P. Dutton its regular fee for the use of the seven images from Appalachian Wilderness which we published in our October/December issue.

We shall be looking forward to receiving the Antarctic manuscript. Chris Casler got a good shot of you looking at your Antarctic map, by the way. I hope we may have occasion to print it.

It has been in the 90s here for the last several days, and until a few minutes ago our air-conditioning wasn't on. This makes both the Antarctic and Iceland seem high priority editorial subjects!

Yours sincerely,

James G. Deane
