

April 4, 1977.

Dear Mrs. Porter,

I am quite overwhelmed ^{by} and very grateful for your generous gift of the dye transfer print.

It is a beautiful print & I apologise for my ignorance of the process required to produce it's like.

The arrival of this unexpected pleasure was the one bright spot in a very bad day. 1) my husband suffered a coronary & is now bed-ridden for some time,
2) I learned of the sudden death of my favourite cousin (one Hunter Paterson). So my picture is propped up where I can see it as I go to & for & it cheers me up. Whenever I can get out I will take it to the picture-framer's. I am going to put a note in my Will that it is to go to my nephew - Iain Hunter - but not ~~to~~ soon, I hope!

Thank you very much indeed.

Yours v. sincerely,

Elizabeth Morrison.
