1986 Hal Borland Award
fact sheet

WHO:	National Audubon Society
WHAT:	Hal Borland Award presented to photographer Eliot Porter. The award, named after the late New England naturalist Hal Borland, is given annually "to an individual who through writing, photography or art has made a lasting contribution to the understanding, appreciation and protection of nature."
WHEN & WHERE:	October 7 & 8, 1986, Santa Fe, New Mexico Oct. 7--reception and Eliot Porter retrospective at Randall Davey Audubon Center 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Oct. 8--awards dinner and showing of original John James Audubon Double Elephant Folio Birds of America, valued at $1 million and the $15,000 limited edition facsimile at Eldorado Hotel.
WHY:	Eliot Porter has enjoyed a long and distinguished career as a naturalist photographer. His photographs are "works of art which record an individual artist's special vision," critic and naturalist Joseph Wood Krutch wrote in an introduction to his and Porter's book Baja California and the Geography of Hope. Among Porter's many other books are Appalacian Wilderness, Birds of North America, and Eliot Porter's Southwest. His work has been displayed at the Chicago Art Institute and New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art, as well as numerous other prestigious art centers.
ADMISSION:	By ticket available through Santa Fe Chapter, National Audubon Society. Call 505/983-4609. Price of $150 per person includes all events.
INFORMATION:	Randall Davey Audubon Center 505/983-4609. (media only: Carpenters & Assoc. 505/982-0398)