Dear Eleanor and Eliot:

I'm sending each of you one advance copy of Mexican Churches with this letter. I hope you're as pleased with it as we are at the Press. The shipment should arrive in our warehouse around the middle of October.

Our request for matte lamination unfortunately did not get communicated within DNP, so we have glossy lamination instead. More problematic is an error on the colophon page, where the typesetter's slug was left in. This had been corrected once in proofs, but managed to slip through anyway. There was discussion here at first about the possibility of labelling over this area, but instead we have decided to accept this error in this edition. I'm very sorry about this. But we'll be sure to repair the problem in future reprints.

Overall, I think the book is beautiful. Thanks to you both for your help with it!

Sincerely,

Barbara Jellow
